WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22.
The Democratic National Convention will be held July 7, and, as predicted in THE HERALD last week, Chicago will be the place. The Republican Convention will be held at St. Louis, June 16.

The Hartford Herald man seems to know a few things himself about an editor's misfortune. Hear him: "A country editor is an unfortunate case. If he writes an article of any strength that has any chance of being read, he will say his paper is full for the remainder of the week."

They are still having a high old time at Frankfort, while the people who pay the bill are permitted the poor privilege of listening to the din that emanates from that menagerie of untamed patriots. No political good has so far been accomplished. How long, oh, how long will this state of things continue?

Just how long the color line will be maintained in Kentucky is uncertain, but it will likely soon be obliterated. A bill has been drawn to abolish that line, and it will be submitted to the Legislature. Its passage and ultimate approval by the Governor is one of the things to be looked for and confidently expected.

Ten eyes of the people of the State are upon their representatives at Frankfort who are here for the little for the good of the people of the honor of themselves. Their deliberations have been characterized by senseless wranglings and bickering, ill becoming statements, and distrust with the highest interests of the people. They should get down to work and endeavor to redeem themselves in the short time that is left at their disposal.

JEFFERSON COUNTY now has a new Sheriff and by a strange technicality, Sheriff Plann, a Democrat, went out of office immediately after the November election of 1894. Being pressed by business, he neglected to renew his official bond and have it approved before the first Monday of the present year and by this act, according to law, he forfeited his office. His successor has been appointed by a Republican County Judge. Of course he is a Republican, and his name is Charles Schuch, a wholesale boot and shoe man.

It now seems that Goldrey's Cord did Hunter is not so mighty a power of being elected U. S. Senator after all. The Democrats threatened to adopt a plan of a tooth, and for every Representative elected by a Republican a Republican would be unelected also. This plan of voting scraps rather modified the Republican thirst for power. An agreement has been entered into at Fort between Democrats and Republicans which provides that nobody shall be unelected in either House until after the election of the successor of Isaac Wilson, the deceased Representative from the first district. The election is now set for February 5. By this move Hunter gets only 68 votes, including Populist's, and he needs 69.

THERE is much beating about the bushes at present for some suitable tribute to put into the Congressional race in the fourth district. Thunder is rolling in the distance and lightning is expected to strike one of the towering specimens, of which there are several. In the galaxy of eminent statesmen mentioned for the place, stand out more forcibly as representing the highest type of Kentucky manhood and Democracy than our own citizen and patriot, Hon. E. D. Walker. Essentially a leader of the people and possessing in abundance all those splendid qualifications that go to make up a sage, a man versed in the arts of government and popular with everybody, his eminent abilities bespeak for him the firm endorsement of the people. Among the half dozen splendid gentlemen mentioned for the place, none would command better strength than Judge Walker.

THERE was not so much buncombe and bomb in that "negro domination" after all. The Democratic events show, Gov. Bradley has appointed a negro named John Pate as Steward of the Western National Aylam at Hopkinsville. The man is a resident of that city and a son-in-law by trade. By his services as an election starter he is rewarded with a good paying position, which places him upon a social equality with the white officials of his institution, and gives him authority over the five or six hundred white inmates. Just what tender care and mercy will be dispensed at the hands of this negro saloon-keeper to the poor white unfortunate under him can well be guessed. The thought will be especially comforting to those Democrats who helped place the Republicans in power and who perhaps have unfortunate relatives who will come under this negro's domination.

THE COMPARISON.
That the only cause of the defeat of Democracy in Kentucky at the late election was its disunion in Democratic ranks, is known and admitted by everyone at all acquainted with public affairs. The Republican party is no stronger in Kentucky to-day than it was ten years ago. The party of that name carried the State this fall, but it was not by the suffrage of Republican voters that this victory was brought about. It was won on each side by the political principles to maintain their views on the financial question, which at best was but a secondary matter. The regular Democratic nominees were forced to run a campaign on each side by the warriers of their own tribe, armed with clubs.

The Republican nominees received the solid support of their party without regard to race. The maxim of the Republican party is to go well known to need comment. Their creed is to vote for the nominee if that nominee be a brindle pup. And in this lie their strength. The party, in its campaign in Democratic ranks placed them, for they knew that out of this discord they will get many votes. After the election many complaints were showered upon the party. Democrats to whom votes was due a great measure of Republican success. Nothing places Republicans better than to see Democrats, while the most persistent are used to keep their own members within ranks.

The Glasgow Republic is a fair representative of the Republican press of the State. Below we print in full the editorial which appears in the issue of last week. The ten Democratic Six Republican members who declined to go into the Senate are not the only ones who have refused to go. The Democrats threatened to adopt a plan of a tooth, and for every Representative elected by a Republican a Republican would be unelected also. This plan of voting scraps rather modified the Republican thirst for power. O, the hypocrisy of that first paragraph. Such deviation is not in such "outrage of conviction." But these commendable traits are not applicable to Republicans—oh, no. They must do their duty and "submit to the will of the majority," for in this they are strong. Such sentiments are disgusting and we hope there is sufficient in them to convince all Democrats of the selfish motives and disastrous results of the bolting movement.

FRANKFORT LETTER.
(Special correspondence of THE HERALD.)
FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 18, 1895. All things about here as predicted. The thought will be especially comforting to those Democrats who helped place the Republicans in power and who perhaps have unfortunate relatives who will come under this negro's domination.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR COURT HOUSE FENCE.
Will be let the lowest and best bidder executing on Monday, the 27th day of January, 1895, at the Court House door in Hartford, Ky., a contract for laying base of stone around the Court House and ground, together with a side walk of brick on the outside of the fence.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAYSIDE.
HARTFORD, KY., Jan. 18, 1895. The writer has never shivered so much as I do now. I have been reading the account of the election in Kentucky, and I am sure that the people of this State are not so much interested in the result as they are in the process.

THE PAVEMENT TO BE OF BRICK WITH STONE CURBING.
The pavement to be of brick with stone curbing, cut and fitted in good workmanlike order, viz: the stone composing the curbing to be not less than 18 inches wide, 21, or more, feet long, and 6 inches thick, with close joints and straight alignments. The side walk to be 10 feet wide in front, 8 feet in the rear, 6 feet on either side.

THE VARD OF THE COURT HOUSE IS TO BE GRADED AND SLOPED.
The yard of the Court House is to be graded and sloped, by sloping the ground in such a manner as will prevent washing, and a gutter of cement against the fence at the foot of the slope, with open openings through the basement stone of the fence to lead the water to small stone gutters across the pavement at intervals of 60 feet.

THE REAL CONDITION OF OUR MONEY.
The real condition of our money is such that it is not worth the paper it is on. The Government has issued $100,000,000 of greenbacks and treasury notes, and it is now proposed to issue $100,000,000 more. This is a very serious situation, and it is one that the Government must face.

THE APPOINTMENT OF PATEL.
(Hopkinsville, Kentucky.)
The people of this County are at last brought face to face with the question of negro domination in a very plain and feeling manner. The appointment of Patel as Steward of the Western National Aylam is a very serious situation, and it is one that the Government must face.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
(From our special correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17, 1895. "Hurray for the winner." That's what all good Democrats are shouting at this time. The Republican party has won the election, and it is a great victory for the people of this country.
